

Getting Started with the Curator & Search Tools

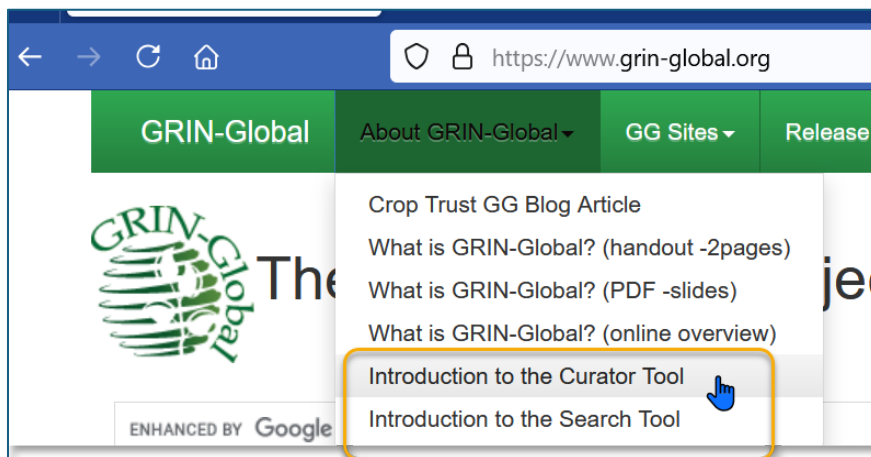

There are all kinds of self-paced training resources online at the site: <https://www.grin-global.org/>
Many of these were designed for new users to learn the Curator Tool (CT) and Search Tool (ST). See bullets further below.

Here are some good places to start:

- <https://www.grin-global.org>

- <https://www.grin-global.org/videos.htm>
